Council Pushes Constitution

PREXY SAYS GOVERNMENT 'WORKS WELL'

Jim Logan, Cerritos College student body president, told a press conference here Tuesday that his school's new form of government is "working well," despite problems at the start.

Logan was invited to watch SAC's student council in action Tuesday noon. The council is considering approval of a new format of student government, modeled after the one at Cerritos.

The Cerritos government has an executive, judicial and legislative branch and is unique in California junior colleges.

Logan, who recently stepped in as the Cerritos ASB president, said their government went into effect the last two weeks of school last year.

"If we had it to do over, I think we would have started in the middle of the year," Logan said. "The fall of the school year is the most important time because most of your big events occur then. We had a few problems at first but we got them straightened out."

Logan later urged students not to let petty disagreements enter into the debate over the proposed constitution.

Four of the eight members of the Government Revision Committee were present to answer questions from the El Don staff.

Delegates from Cerritos included Logan, Talon Marks editor, Bill Reed, Senators Kit Holmberg and Lucy Finch, AWS President Judy Worda, and AMS president Jim Litel.

SAC Wins Three Honors in EC Speech Tourney

Santa Ana College students topped one first place and two second place honors at an Eastern Conference speech meet held Tuesday at Riverside City College.

Bob Clinkscale, freshman, won a first in men's extemporaneous; Bob Shuler, second, men's panel; Terry Gordon, second, men's interpretation.

Other participants in the day-long meet included Pat McGinn, women's oratory; Bill Atkinson, men's impromptu; Sheryl Winn, women's impromptu; Monika Sager, women's extemporaneous.

Robert Blaustone and Edmund Hallahan, speech instructors, accompanied the delegates.

AID ACCIDENT VICTIM — Ronald Beitelspacher 18, member of the Don wrestling squad, sustained minor tissue bruises early Wednesday when he was struck by a car in the college parking lot. Driver of the car, proceeding at a slow speed, was Robert Whitfield, 18, also a SAC student. Xrays on Beitelspacher at Doctor's Hospital revealed minor hip bruises, but no broken bones. He was released late Wednesday and planned to resume classes yesterday.

Hanna To Deliver Major Bill of Rights Address

Richard T. Hanna, 34th District Congressman, will deliver a major Bill of Rights speech on Thursday, Dec. 5 during the week-long observance of historical document, Dec. 2-6.

Committee chairman Mike Reiter confirmed late Thursday that Hanna had wired from Washington he will appear at an assembly slated for 11 a.m. in Phillips Hall.

A Democrat, Hanna served many sessions in the California legislature as Orange County assemblyman. He defeated GOP contender Robert Geier for the congressional post in November elections last year.

Vic Reed, assemblies commissioner, announced the band and choir would also perform in the assembly under the direction of Elmer Ramsey and James Vail, respectively.

Reiter said a portion of the program will utilize instructional television with a show beamed to all elementary school students in the Santa Ana Unified School District.

Competition between service clubs will be a major part of the observance this year. The committee will judge each club to see how well it promotes interest in the Bill of Rights, with the winner receiving twice the usual number of service points.

Schmitz to Speak on 'Semantic Warfare'

SAC philosophy instructor John Schmitz will speak on "Semantic Warfare" at a meeting of Newman Club this Sunday night at 8 p.m. in the Holy Family parish hall, at the corner of La Veta and Glasell in Orange. All students are invited, according to Dave Hughes, president.

Sixth Draft Distributed At Council

Student Council distributed Tuesday the sixth draft of a proposed constitution for adoption next semester at Santa Ana College.

Dan Weaver, ASB president, introduced student body officers from Cerritos College where a similar constitution has been in effect three months. They also attended a special El Don press conference held following council's adjournment.

"After many discussions and six drafts, The Government Revision Committee will meet Sunday to reject or accept this latest draft of the proposed constitution. It is expected they will seek student council approval next Tuesday," explained Weaver.

Ratification has been proposed for a campus election Dec. 11, with a simple majority of all those voting required for passage. If ratified, the constitution shall take effect January 24, 1964.

El Don reprints for the students a complete copy of the latest constitution and offers an analysis of the proposed student government revisions on page two of this issue.

REVISIONS TO BE AIRED ON TUESDAY

Students will have a first-hand opportunity to learn about the proposed new constitution for Santa Ana College during a question and answer period Tuesday at 12:25 p.m. in lecture hall A-1.

Dan Weaver, ASB president, said the Government Revision Committee will completely explain the revised constitution recommended for approval by student voters on Dec. 11.

Formation of a new constitution has been undertaken by a committee during the last eight weeks. It is modeled after the Cerritos College Constitution, consisting of a legislative, executive, and judicial branch of student government.

Late Bulletin

President John F. Kennedy was killed by an assassin this morning in Dallas, Texas.

The President and Texas Governor John Connally were victims of an unknown assassin, early reports indicated.

Death came to the President in a Dallas hospital at approximately 10:30 a.m. (PST.) He was reportedly shot in the head.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is the new President of the United States.

Atmosphere in the SAC student union was one of silence and gloom as news reports filtered in over the radio.

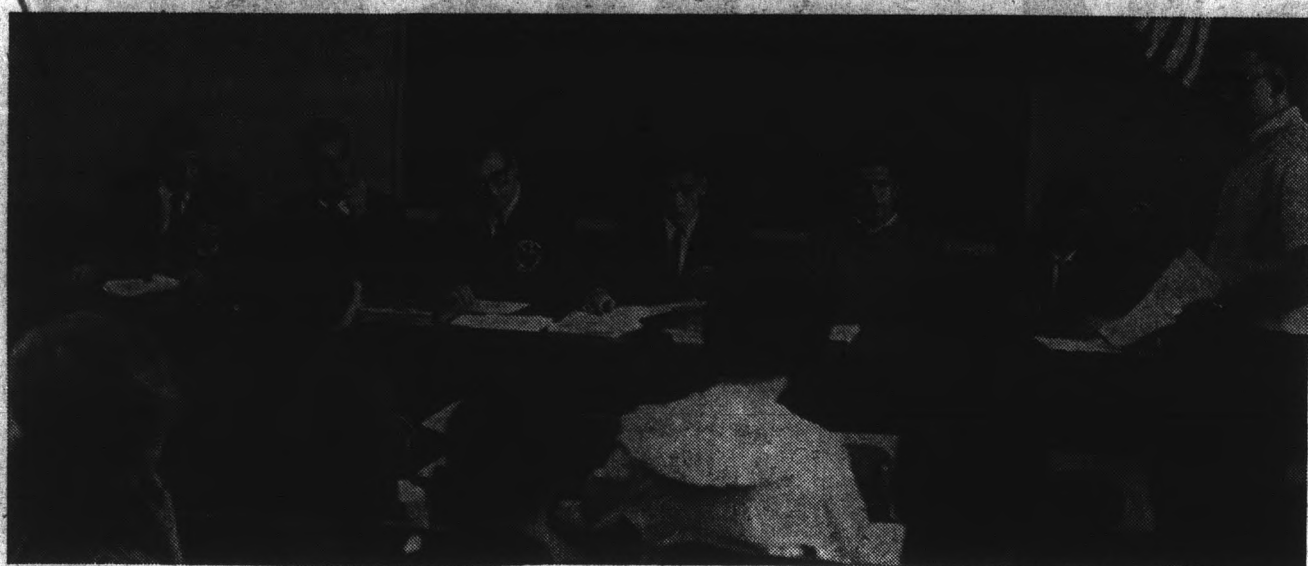

In the snack bar, students — men and women alike — had tears in their eyes.

"I think it's terrible," said Terry Vienna, a sophomore. "It hurts the integrity of the nation."

The flag was flown at half-mast immediately.

Life was stilled on campus when the official confirmation of the President's death was announced.

New Constitution Framers Urge Adoption in January

BY GARY LYCAN
El Don Feature Editor

New ASB constitution framers met the press Tuesday in an attempt to explain the new document proposed for adoption at Santa Ana College next semester.

Labeled the "Cerritos Plan," the new constitution would establish a legislative, executive and judicial branch, patterned after the national government.

Cerritos College in Norwalk pioneered the constitution on the college level three months ago. It was reputedly one year in preparation, although estimates as long as 3½ years have also been reported.

Santa Ana's constitutional revision committee has been swiftly preparing a similar document for ratification this month to take effect next semester. The first draft came after seven weeks. Within another seven days, the document was revised five times.

Framers are quick to point to the advantages of a new constitution:

1. It would create wider student interest resulting in an elected senate of 21 students and seven officers on a newly-revised executive cabinet.

2. More freshmen and sophomores would have a hand in the laws passed by student government. Legislative powers would be vested in the senate; the Executive cabinet would serve in an advisory capacity.

INTERPRETIVE REPORT

3. By-laws would be created after Senate elections are held, permitting for little revision within the body of the new constitution. By-laws would be relatively easy to change, predict the framers.

4. They want it adopted now so the present ASB officers elected to a yearly post can continue under the new regime, getting it off to a successful start.

Objections to a new constitution — at least, for the present time — number just as many, with one member of the revision committee referring to it as a "pig in a poke":

1. It is being rushed through in a mere eight weeks, hardly adequate time to examine a constitution only three months old at Cerritos.

2. There should be new by-laws to accompany the new constitution before the spring elections. These by-laws should be voted on at the same time as the constitution.

3. If the constitution is passed, an entirely new slate of officers should be elected since the current government would no longer exist.

4. Specifications are missing in regards to the formation of political parties, since the president and vice-president would be elected together.

There are more pros and cons; many more questions are still unanswered. Why a simple majority to pass a new constitution? Why the lowering of grade point averages? Why a constitution without by-laws?

Dave Hughes remarked that "the only way to get something out of college is to put something into it." Dons are urged to analyze the Cerritos Plan at right to see if it deserves a try next semester at Santa Ana College.

EDITORIALS . . .

. . . No Small Matter

Next Tuesday at 12:25 p.m. in lecture hall A-1, members of the Government Revision Committee will be on hand to answer your questions concerning the new proposed constitutions. El Don urges all students to take time out to attend this important session.

Because the revision committee has been unable to put a copy of the proposed constitution in the hands of every student, El Don today reprints a copy of the sixth draft. Although more changes are expected to be made this weekend by members of the committee, the constitution reprinted on this page is substantially what you — the voter — will be asked to approve in several weeks.

El Don hopes that students will study the constitution carefully, then make their views and questions known on Tuesday. The adoption of a new constitution is no small matter.

Anyone For By-Laws?

Like the legend, the dike supporting the adoption of a new constitution at Santa Ana College has sprung a few leaks.

Loopholes and dissension among government revision committee members embarrassingly reveal the ineptness with which ASB leaders "hurry" through a constitution modeled after a similar document in effect only three months at Cerritos College in Norwalk.

Paramount among issues plaguing the "Cerritos Plan" is the lack of a new set of by-laws. Evidently, none are planned until the constitution is adopted, when the newly-created Senate will whip up new by-laws.

This is comparable to submitting half a constitution for voter approval. It stifles not only the effectiveness of the proposed document, but seriously hampers next spring's election.

Committee member Dave Hughes said if the "Cerritos Plan" is approved, elections would be held for senators governed by the present constitution. Then he realized the present document covers no such office.

Wading into the quicksand further, Dan Wooldridge said elections would be held under the new constitution, but the present by-laws would stay in effect. Fine, except neither covers election qualifications.

He then contradicted himself to hastily say an election clause would be added to the new constitution. The reason for omitting same, he stated earlier, was to keep future revision to the by-laws and not the body of the constitution.

Confusing, isn't it? Eight weeks of constitution planning and not one thought to by-laws.

This is only one of many sour notes the committee will have to remove before the "Cerritos Plan" belongs at the top of the hit parade. The "rushing" factor alone requires all Dons to think twice before giving it a spin at Santa Ana College.

People

It's a complaint we hear every so often from a disgruntled reader. This week, it came from instructor-counselor Edmund Hallahan.

"You can't pick up a newspaper without reading something bad about kids. Why don't you print some of the good?" he asked.

He told us about a faculty member who had received a note of appreciation signed by many students for some help the instructor had given the students.

"Why don't you give them some credit. It's not often that something nice like that happens," Hallahan said.

We talked to one of the students who signed the letter.

"He made it possible for the longleaders, flag twirlers and majorettes to remain on the field during football games. When we first started using the new Santa Ana Bowl, no one was allowed to be on the field except the team, coaches and refs.

"He also purchased mums for the entire pep squad at our homecoming game.

"And he has given faith to the team and has really helped to give more spirit and enthusiasm to the pep squad," one coed said.

Few people realize the pep squad sent the note of appreciation. Probably fewer people realize that it was — you guessed it — Edmund Hallahan who received the note of thanks.

SFRB To Hear First Case

Student Faculty Review Board (SFRB) will meet Monday at 2 p.m. for the first time this year to consider the case of one of its members.

Bob Taylor has requested an interpretation of a traffic parking law. According to his petition, Taylor questions the legality of being issued two violation tickets for the same offense. The petition did not cite the violated law.

Other members of the SFRB, besides Taylor, include Special Activities Commissioner Frank M. Miller Jr., Jack Yraceburn, Sandi Ward and Cristi Schack. Faculty members are Robert Anderson, Courtland Holdgrafer, Louis Pecorra and Lloyd Carr.

Chemistry students here won't have to worry about the instructor's experiments failing any more.

The problem will be solved within a week or so when television teaching is introduced to SAC chemistry students.

Television monitors are now located in lecture hall Q-5. Students will view pre-taped experiments, according to Art Hayes, chemistry instructor.

Some 16 chemistry experiments were completed by Hayes and Dr. Walter Brooks in September. The experiments were taped in Anaheim because TV studios in Santa Ana had not been completed.

Hayes told El Don he intends to use the televisions as "just another audio-visual device, a supplemental tool which could prove to be very valuable." He does not intend to use it as an excuse for not teaching, he added.

"The public address system, which will be used with the TVs, will make teaching a much easier job," Hayes said. "There will be no shouting in the big lecture hall, putting the instructor at ease. Everybody will hear a lot better."

The chemistry instructors are enthusiastic about the possibilities of the new closed circuit television. Most important is the time lapse problem.

"Students will be able to see in 15 minutes an experiment that would normally take up to two weeks to complete. This should omit a lot of unnecessary details," Hayes said.

He cited another problem that will be solved by the TV: the possibility of an experiment not working the first time.

"In an on-the-stop presentation, there is no time to repeat an experiment," Hayes explained. "If the experiment is taped, however, it may be repeated many times until a satisfactory performance is obtained."

Charles Klasek is in charge of the SAC television programming, according to Hayes.

International Club Screens Movie Series

International Students Club kicked off the first of four films from the famed "Twentieth Century" television series this week with the screening of "Ethiopia," part one, Tuesday.

Paul Andres, adviser to the group of 22 foreign students, said part two will be shown next Tuesday at 11 a.m. in A-1. Ethiopia's Emperor Haile Selassie is interviewed along with Peace Corps members working in Ethiopia.

On Dec. 3, "Czechoslovakia: From Munich to Moscow" will screen. It is the story of a little republic twice the victim of totalitarianism.

Concluding the series will be "Germany: Red Spy Target" on Dec. 17. West Germany is said to contain the highest concentration of spies in the world — and the film tries to show why.

Contributions are welcome from the campus or community.

Riverside Ends Don Win Spurt

Gunning for a possible third place finish in the Eastern Conference, Santa Ana College's water poloists host Chaffey today at 3:30 p.m.

Five Dons, Bob Welty, Pat Monahan, Merlyn Roco, Jack Klingbill and Wayne Fedden will be playing their final game for Santa Ana today.

"If we beat Chaffey we can get a tie for third and possibly gain sole possession of third place," coach Rick Rowland stated. The Dons have a mark of two wins and three losses in conference play and have won eight and lost six in season play.

Last week the Dons had a six game winning streak snapped when Riverside defeated them 14-13 in a double overtime. SAC's two top scorers Bob Welty and Bill Stephens were out of the match with injuries. Welty is still doubtful for today's contest.

During the Southern California Junior College water polo Tournament, Rowland's tanksters sank Riverside 24-5 in the opening round. Friday's loss to the Bengals eliminated the Dons from any possible playoff consideration.

DONS SCORING ACES — Bob Welty and Bill Stephens, high scorers for the Santa Ana College water polo team missed last week's game with Riverside won by the Tigers 14-13. Sophomore star Welty closes out his two years of polo today against Chaffey, if his ear infection has cleared sufficiently.

SAC Conquers Apaches In Season Finale, 29-14

Displaying a surprising offensive machine, Santa Ana College rolled up 434 yards rushing, added 25 through the air as the Dons crushed visiting Southwestern 29-14.

Reminding fans of former Santa Ana teams, the Dons dominated the game and downed the Apaches in the season finale as they scored in three of the four periods.

Fullback Steve Ledbetter started the scoring spree as he capped a 12 play, 74 yard drive by going the final one yard for the touchdown with 6:21 remaining in the first quarter.

Alex Cervantes ran for a two point conversion to widen the Don advantage to 8-0.

Don Guest scored the next two Don touchdowns on runs of 23 and 25 yards. Stan Wood's boot and Cervantes' pass to Henri Jensen provided the conversions.

With 10 minutes gone in the second half Jensen capped an 81 yard drive with a seven yard dash into the end zone.

Southwestern scored on a one yard plunge by Jim Seivano and a 65 yard interception by Bob Rorabaugh.

The win enabled Santa Ana to finish at 3-5-1 for a sixth place tie with Fullerton. Southwestern ended at ninth with a 2-7-1 ledger.

Cagers Struggle With Inexperience Problem

"We face the same problem the football team did — inexperience," voiced new head basketball coach Bob Wilhelm.

SAC's new mentor must build his team around freshmen because he has only two returning lettermen.

The 15 freshmen on the squad will get their first taste of combat against El Camino next week. Wilhelm feels the team's success depends on how fast these freshmen develop.

Wilhelm pointed out the team will be one of the smallest in the Eastern Conference. The loss of Jim Proctor, who transferred to Arizona State, really hurts the team the Don mentor stated.

"Proctor was 6'10" and an outstanding center, and it's going to be very hard to find a replacement for him," moaned Wilhelm.

Santa Ana lost the services of guard Jim Beal for the season due to an injury. However, Dick Barnard also feared lost for the year is back working out with the team. Barnard hurt his knee in a car wreck and is slowly getting back into shape.

Wilhelm will have to wait until the start of second semester before using center George Winter. Winter is the tallest member of the squad at 6'6" and is rated highly by his coach.

DONS THE CHAMPS!

Delaney Paces SAC Title Win

By JIM BAILEY
Assistant Sports Editor

Santa Ana College's one-two punch of Bob Delaney and George Aguirre finished one-three to lead SAC to its third straight Eastern Conference cross country championship yesterday at the Riverside Raceway.

Delaney paced the pack of EC distancemen with a time of 13 minutes and 57 seconds for the three mile course. Aguirre finished third behind San Bernardino's Bill Carson.

Don Gals Suffer Loss in Tourney

Defeated before they were started, the Don gals suffered a 46-30 loss to Compton in their first basketball tournament game Wednesday, November 13.

Since this was a single elimination tournament, the coeds have begun practice for their coming volleyball season.

First volleyball game of the season will be played on Wednesday, December 4, at 3 p.m. against Palomar in Cook Gym.

Colette Heathcoate, WAA member, urges all students to "come out and give support to the team."
